Scramble meeting

A very long day for the “old timers that we are or become”, on this nice course but unfortunately not in very good condition. Of course the rain during previous weeks wasn't favourable to maintain or have a good course. But nevertheless, in an “open” scramble it was a very nice and appreciated game.

Buddha (& Lieve Devis) took care of us. No rain, no wind, so allowing us decent playing weather, although a bit fresh, and as Jacqueline (in my flight) mentioned, it is not the end of summer season competition but the beginning of the winter season. We were happy to see that our friend Xavier Esch recovered very well from his urgent surgery as he played with us.

The winners of the 7 teams were very generously rewarded by the Festraets couple. The table was completely covered with prizes, and nearly all received one some way or another. Nearest the pin, lottery and so on. They even offered a gift to the committee members as thanks for their (our) work and devotion to SNGG. WHAW this doesn't happen often, so many thanks to this really fantastic nice couple. Trang Nguyen and Fabian Londot invited a very nice Lady as a guest, Mrs. Chris Geyskens, who is applying for membership at SNGG. Of course she is very welcome.

Day results and prize giving were kept short as we still had a long evening to “overcome”.

We took a little break while “the traditional SNGG apéro” was served, but everything stayed within our estimated schedule.
