Brumssemerheide, May 29, 2026

Upon arriving in Brunssum, the car's temperature gauge read 33°C.

With no wind, it felt like 35-36°C.

The terrain was somewhat hilly, making it a physically challenging round. It was also heavily wooded, providing plenty of welcome shade.

Our beloved President was unable to join us as he was attending his son Alexandre's wedding. We extend our warmest wishes to the newlyweds.

Marc Welby, captain of the seniors at his home club, was scheduled to participate in an Interclub match that day.

In the end, only 13 of us took to the course, which, despite some generously wide fairways, presented a number of challenges. There was a lot of water hazard and numerous bunkers near the greens, which were of rather poor quality. Most of the par 3s were long and elevated, except for one located below the teebox but on a peninsula. That's why the players receive so many strokes.

Nevertheless, some good results were achieved, and the committee members preformed well.

Ten people stayed for a meal that had to be ordered when booking and paid for with the green fee. Strangely, after an interminable wait, all the steaks were served cooked the same way. The drinks they ordered arrived after some had already finished eating.

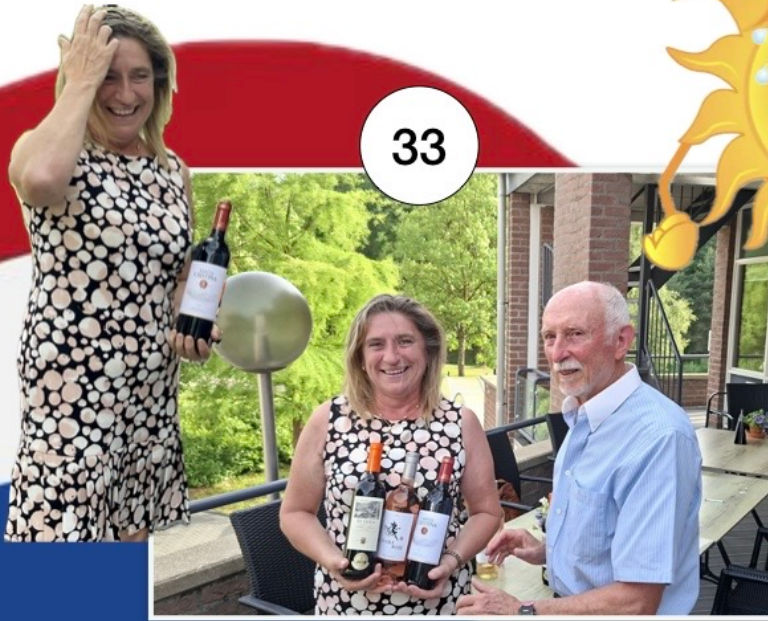

The next competition is in Le Zoute on June 15th, sponsored by the Swaelens family, ending with the traditional gambas dinner.
