The Sabena Golf Group Team

Rigenée October 2nd, 2026

By all means an overwhelming success. 30 players with the best weather we could wish, 21°, sunny, no wind on a course that as always remains very enjoyable. Greens were excellent, all the rough was cleaned and very playable. Fairways somewhat hard with grass free patches due to the very dry season, placing was necessary and allowed of course. Some bunkers were wet or with very hard thick sand. Not really easy to play this way.

One great anecdote was Yves on the hole 16 PAR 5, laying in 3 in a wet bunker in front of the green. He made an "air shot"!!! long time since he had done that. So very frustrated he played a second time without even thinking, and you know what? It was a perfect bunker shot. His ball fell about 2-3 m from the flag on this downslope green and gently followed the perfect line and rolled IN. Timothy and I were witnesses to this and somewhat frozen, we saw the ball disappearing in the hole. Yves will NEVER forget this shot, impossible. Maybe a hint for all of us: you don't need to think "too much" before making a shot, you only increase the amount of stress by concentrating "too much".

Again, back to the weather and I suggested that Buddha surely deserves a gift from us, some proposed a new coat of varnish. Prize-giving was on the sunny terrace with still a good 20° on this 2nd of October... super.

Our sponsors were Pat & Mark Welby, and the prize-table was filled with excellent wines. Many thanks to this happy, great couple.

Yves gave the excellent results of the competition, and we rarely saw so many high scores. On the hole 18, Pierre Possoz sent his ball at 3 m from the flag for a nearest to pin.

Note that we didn't forget to give a big applause for the anniversary of Marie-Claude De Jonghe and Jean-Luc Lacroix (the day before).

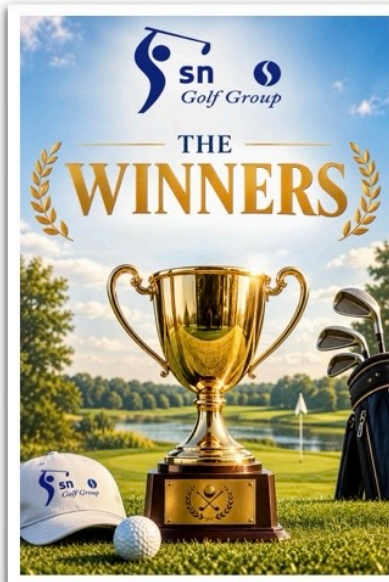

These absentees were completely mistaken and missed a wonderful day like this.

Next is our meeting at Falnuée with a long tradition such as a special formula, forged by the creative mind of our Cpt Yves, followed by our General Assembly and End of Season dinner. All info and details will follow soon.
